HOBBY & INTERESTS

I like cycling and love hiking in the mountains.

After master laurea, I started running again, because I believe in the "Mens sana in corpore sano" motto.

I'm particularly interested in how an interfaces should adapt according to the different users needs, providing flexible and always updated solutions.

By implementing different projects during university and by working to new solutions at work, I learned how important is the group and a great opportunity is to confront with colleagues.

CREDENTIALS

While dedicating to different projects, in Deloitte, I have never stopped learning by putting myself to the test with new challenges to have a broader vision of the platform, focusing on the architectural and development aspects.
